ASK FOR RECONSIDERATION.

Property Owners Want Commissioners to Approve 16th Street Award. At a meeting of certain property owners and the representatives of others at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the office of Chapin Brown the recent action of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia in setting aside the award of the jury in the matter of the extension of 16th street was discussed. The meeting, which was called by Charles C. Lancaster, was attended by Mr. Lancaster, Charles C. Cole, Louis P. Shoemaker, Chapin Brown, Willlam A. Gordon, Thomas Blagden, William J. Lambert, John Ridout, Judge McPherson, Benjamin F. Leighton, S. R. Bond and W. Riley Deeble.

Mr. Cole was requested to preside. After an exchange of views it was decided to urge the Commissioners to reconsider their action and to adopt the verdict of the jury of appraisers. The Commissioners set aside the verdict on the ground that the amount of benefits assessed was not equal one-half the amount of damages awarded.

The suggestion was made that there exists a grave question as to whether or not the act of the Commissioners in setting aside the award, if final, will have the effect of annulling the act providing for the extension so that no other jury may be impaneled without special authority

Miss Burbage's Pupils' Recital.

The advanced pupils of Miss Alice E. Burbage presented an excellent program of piano numbers before a large and enthusiastic audience at the Washington Club last evening. The selections were well chosen and the performers all acquitted themselves in a manner that reflected credit upon their teacher as well as upon their own industry in practice. Miss Maude Young played Chaminade's "La Lis-onjera," Clarence R. Shoemaker two Chopin preludes, Louise Bourke Daquin's "Le Coucou" (seventeenth century) and Liszt's arrangement of Wagner's "Song to the Evening Star;" Helen Richmond Mendels-sohn's "Capriccio Brilliante," Rebecca Behrend Radmaminoff's prelude, Schu-mann's "Nachstuck" and MacDowell's "Witches' Dance;" Mrs. Wilma Benton-Smith Rubinstein's "Kammenoi-Ostrow;" Clara Moran; Mendelssohn's "On the Wings of Song" and Field's "Rondo" in E flat, and Miss Behrend, Von Weber's "Concertstuck." #### AMESERENTS.

CHASE'S THEATER—The announce-ment of attractions for next week at Chase's Theater is one of unusual impor-tance and interest. A bill with three distinct and novel head-line features will be presented. Chase's is a place of beauty and comfort these het days, the hundred of fans and other cooling applinaces giv-ing a temperature much lower than that of the street. Concinents is suggested everywhere, palms and ferns waving in the breezes that sweep the length and breadth of the auditorium. The first novelty of the bill next week will be the appearance of Laura Comstock, assisted by forty peopeople, in "The Animated Song Sheet." "The Bridegroom's Reveries," a sensation al scenic spectaclet is next on the list, being presented by the Misses Delmore and company. It is replete with pretty music, elaborate costumes and fine scenic effects, and is different in concention and execution. ferent in conception and execution from anything ever seen on the stage at Chase's. The third and special extra attraction will be "L'Argentina," in her famous and bewildering mirror dances, introducing many new and striking effects. Vari-color ed electric rays are thrown from above beneath, on either side and in front. Demp-sey, Mack and Company will present their latest farce, "A Man of Chance," written by the authors of "A Stranger in a Strange Land," while other features of the bill include Joe Brennan and Marie Sinnott, comedy duo; La Marr and Gabriel, funmakers: the Biograph moving pictures, and the Royal Hungarian Gypsy Band.

LAFAYETTE SQUARE THEATER. "The Jilt," well known as one of the greatest plays of Dion Bouckault, is in rehearsal by the Lafayette Square Stock Com pany for presentation next week. It is a story dealing with English high life of today, and many excellent character sketches are introduced in the course of the drama The main theme treats of the faithles wife of an English aristocrat. It is not problem play, but a clean and wholesome picture of society, introducing in addition to the two leading characters amusing types. There is an abundance of comedy between various pairs of lovers, and the dialogue is at all times clever and sparding. Boucleault wrote many plays, but has not been seen in Washington in many years, though stock companies in other cities have played it with marked success It was originally produced in this country at the Boston Museum by the well-known company which formerly was Boston's pride. William Seymour, the stage director of the Lafayette, was in the original pro duction made by Bouckault then. The play offers splendid roles to Edwin Arden and Minnie Radcliffe. Most of the Lafayette players will be in the cast

FEAST OF ST. ANTHONY. The Blessing of the Lilies at the Franciscan Monastery.

The feast of St. Anthony of Padua, who by Leo XIII has been called the saint of the whole world, because he is so widely known and universally venerated by the Catholics of all countries, will be celebrated tomorrow, June 13, with special solemnity, at the chapel of the Franciscan Monastery, on Mount St. Sepulchre. Cardinal Martinelli will assist in Cappa Magna and give the blessing. After high mass the blessing of the lilies will take place, a ceremony approved by the sacred congrega-tion of rites, "in honor of the eminent purity of St. Anthony." After this a procession will pass through the church, in which will be borne a relic of the saint, the processionists carrying lilies in their hands and chanting the responsory of St. Anthony, composed by Dr. St. Bonaventure.

The lilies will be offered at the shrine of the saint and the relic of the saint venerated by the faithful. The white petals of the lily flowers blessed on this day are reverently preserved by the members of the church, and are, according to the formula of the blessing, applied in cases of sickobtain health and prosperity through the intercession of the saint The afternoon services will be as on Sun days. After complines, at 4 o'clock, benediction will be given with the blessed sac rament, and the relic of the saint will be more offered for veneration to the
